Two key student success initiatives for 2017

- FLY@UP
- Ready-for-Work Project

Leading student success

- “Student success does not arise by chance. It is the result of an intentional, structured, and proactive set of strategies that are coherent and systematic in nature and carefully aligned to the same goal” (Tinto, 2009).
- Focus: success at university and post-university

FLY@UP

- Project launched in 2016
- The project is aimed at increasing success/completion rates:
 - Ensuring the system-wide implementation of UP’s hybrid delivery model.
 - Tshebe Data Analytics Project: Using data to enhance student success.
 - Social Learning Spaces Project
 - Student Teaching and Learning Committee
 - Curriculum Transformation Project
 - FSAs and tutors

The Hybrid Teaching and Learning Project

A hybrid teaching model:

- Characterised by different modes of delivery in combination or separately.
- Involves face-to-face teaching and learning enhanced by appropriate technology to support student engagement outside the contact sessions.
- Maximises students’ participation in and control of their own learning
- Accommodates the needs of students who benefit more from online than traditional teaching approaches
- Also accommodates the needs of students who benefit more from face-to-face than online-only teaching approaches
